Most people are doing more and expecting more from their Internet than ever before.

To keep up with the ever-changing Internet media, TruVista brings you Fiber-to-the-home broadband connections, or FTTH. This system uses Fiber Optic cable instead of the traditional copper, DSL or coaxial cable. The result is better, faster service than ever possible before, and for about the same price!

More than 10 million homes worldwide already have FTTH connections. And that's because it can carry more than 2 million connections at the same time, where as a traditional copper wire can carry about 10. That's an amazing difference!

It also ensures that your home will be future-proof. As the demands for Internet usage skyrocket, FTTH will be able to handle the load for decades to come.

FTTH is already available in many of our service areas. Call to find out if your neighborhood is one of them.
